HMPI | HEALTH MANAGEMENT, POLICY & INNOVATION
BAHM BUSINESS SCHOOL ALLIANCE FOR HEALTH MANAGEMENT

Christopher Johnson:

Abstract

This is the latest in a series of interviews conducted by Kirsten Gallagher, managing editor of HMPI, with leading health management faculty.

Christopher Johnson, PhD, is an organizational health services researcher best known for work that seeks to understand how health care organizations impact health care outcomes for veterans, underserved populations, and the elderly. He led and participated in grants funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF), The Commonwealth Fund, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, VA Health Services Research & Development, CMS State-University Partnership Program (KY), State of Florida's Agency for Health Care Administration, Novartis, and HealthGrades, Inc.